

Take time to explore and find what's really in North Hobart. Glimpses of the past are revealed in sparkling granite and aluminium letters underfoot. Stainless steel fences and tree guards echo the old frontages that you find turning into any of the side streets.

discover NORTH HOBART and its treasures

The street furniture has been specifically designed for this North Hobart Central area. Watch the stainless steel shimmer in the movement of this busy street.

The features described in this brochure have been installed as part of the Hobart City Council's upgrading of the Central North Hobart shopping strip in Elizabeth Street between Federal and Burnett Streets.

There is so much more to see in North Hobart than simply wonderful shops and cafes. Follow the trail of shapes and colours to discover for yourself another side of the North Hobart precinct.

On each side of Elizabeth Street there are ceramic tiled artworks in the footpaths. Members of the local community created these back in 1994, providing an Outdoor Gallery for everyone to see, all hours of the day.

Can you find the little dog?

light poles

From one end of Central North Hobart to the other follow the trail of colourful patterned pavers down the middle of the footpath.

Can you find all the patterns? Some are positive, some negative; pills, ovals and more.

Additional patterns in the grey pavers sparkle as they catch the light and add to the experience of this delightful journey along the street.

Turn the corner into Tony Haigh Walk and move into an imaginary world. No matter how real it seems, the dog waiting patiently on the corner won't bite or bark, the flowers have no scent and you can't post a letter (people have tried). These wonderful murals are in the Trompe L'oeil style, which means, 'to fool the eye'. The painting appears to be three-dimensional and blends into the real features on the walls.

Have you found the map of Tasmania in the woodpile?

Central North Hobart has been a busy, popular place for many years. Glimpses of the past are revealed in sparkling granite and aluminium letters in the Heritage Pavers at significant locations along the footpath. Step back in time and see what used to be there years ago, or maybe still exists but is hidden.

Look for 'Wah Shing Chinese Laundry' or 'Providence Rivulet'. Check out our website for the full story.

North Hobart means many different things to different people. Flashes of life from the area have been captured as photographs and framed in aluminium castings attached to selected light poles. Each image is unique. Some shout out what they are and others take time to be revealed.

Is it an EJ or an EK Holden, a police bike or a courier? Can you guess them all? Check our website to see how you went.
