

Good Life

PERMACULTURE

CHICKENS

Chickens will help process bulk greenwaste and some food scraps through eating, scratching and pooing. Only feed your chooks as much food scraps as they can eat in one day, otherwise you'll attract rodents. Spread straw or woodchips through the chook's run as needed to maintain a thick, spongy "deep litter" where earthworms and soil biology will thrive.

DEEP LITTER

TREE PRUNING

WOOD CHIPS

OLD VEGETABLES AND PLANTS

The City of Hobart has teamed up with Good Life Permaculture to encourage more people to reduce waste and compost at home. Food and garden waste makes up over half of the average rubbish bin, so everyone can do their bit to reduce waste. Composting your own food scraps to grow more food is a fantastic 'closed loop' recycling system.

City of HOBART